Recommendation on the proposed Flavored Tobacco Ban	providers, should not sell tobacco products. There is currently no pharmacies in the unincorporated areas of San Mateo County <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Council member Linda Lopez asked if the statistics provided is nation-wide and if there is any local statistics • Ms. Cabuslay answered that the statistics provided is nation-wide. The County in collaboration with local health districts conduct a Health and Quality of Life telephone survey every 3-4 years. However, the sample size is not large enough to generate a statistically significant result. • Chair Everardo Rodriguez asked about how the tobacco industry targets minorities in the US and around the world • Ms. Babuslay agreed that the tobacco industry targets minorities and gave examples of marketing campaign of the tobacco industry • Chair Everardo acknowledged that this issue is contentious in this community. Even though small business owners might feel that they are being picked on, they are caught in a public health fight. Regulating addictive substances is the only way to protect public health. • Council member Rosaura Lopez asked about the procedures of enforcing the ordinance and the frequency of inspection • Ms. Babuslay answered that all affected retailers will be informed after the passage of the ordinance. Members of the public can report any violations. Environmental Health Division will conduct inspection every one to two years and seek compliance from violators. • Council member Lopez expressed that she thought the ordinance is missing the educational piece. She also asked if the ordinance can provide a longer period than 6 months for retailers to get rid of their products and provide compensation for any unsold product. • Ms. Babuslay answered that the Tobacco Education Coalition has a workplan that includes education at all levels. The purpose of the ordinance is to help create an easier environment where residents can make healthy choices. The 6 month grace period is based on similar ordinances passed in 15 other jurisdictions within California. In addition, a tobacco-industry-funded research suggested that vendors have on average a 21 to 22 days of inventory only. The question about compensation for retailers was answered by the County Manager's Office at a previous study session. • Assistant County Manager, Mr. Mike Callagy, supplemented that, in a practical standpoint, retailers would have in excess of 6 months to get rid of their inventory after the passage of the ordinance. • Council member Rosaura Lopez asked if there will be a separate program for tobacco prevention and education

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ms. Babuslay answered that policy advocacy is just a piece of the puzzle to tobacco prevention. There is a comprehensive workplan that targets all level with collaboration from different community partners, such as health districts and school districts. Ms Babuslay concurs with Council member Rosaura Lopez that parent education is also an important piece of the puzzle • Council member Linda Lopez suggested that the Coalition should also promote parental control of computer to limit online tobacco purchases by youth • Ms. Babuslay agreed with Council Member Linda Lopez and said they are concurrently addressing other social determinants of health • Chair Everardo Rodriguez emphasized on the prevention purpose of the ordinance. Even though the proposed ordiancne might make people feel uncomfortable, it will ultimately save lives. • Council member Rosario Gonzalez asked what will be done to prevent the selling of tobacco products in schools • Ms. Babuslay responded that in partnership with the County Office of Education, each school district has their own policy in tobacco and substance use. It is up to each school to enforce those policies in schools. • Council member Rosario Gonzalez asked if there is any data on the prevalence of tobacco sales in school • Ms. Babuslay said it is difficult to quantify the prevalence but they are working on it with schools • Chair Everardo Rodriguez commented that from the packaging of the these flavored tobacco products, it is apparent that the manufacturers are targeting them to youths
Public Comment	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Jose Louis Rivera, a Redwood City resident who works with retailers in NFO, was concerned that the ban would only move the problem to neighboring communities and hurt local businesses and jobs • John Pounders, a local retailer, hoped that the Council would suggest making amendments to the ordinance to exclude menthol cigarettes in the ban. Mr. Pounders believe that youth are interested in vaping devices rather than menthol cigarettes. • Liz Pounders, a local retailer, urged the Council to oppose the proposed ban as it would only hurt local businesses without solving the problem. She suggested to exclude menthol cigarettes in the ban or give exemption to exisiting businesses to continue selling. • Gabriela Valencia, NFO resident and nurse at Fair Oaks Clinic, supports the proposed ban. Any tobacco product is harmful to human health and the packaging of flavored tobacco products can confuse youth in consuming them. This ban can prevent youth from accessing harmful tobacco products. • Jaime Rojas, representative from National Association of Tobbaco Outlets,

	believed that there are inconsistency in the presentation done by San Mateo County Health System. The presentation focused on how Big Tobacco is intentionally targeting youth and minority and how kids can get access to tabacco from family members. However, the ordianance does not punish Big Tobacco or family members who provide tobacco products to youth, instead, it only punishes law-abiding local retailers. Mr. Rojas urged the Council to suggest excluding menthol cigarettes in the ban and grandfather exisiting businesses. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mike Callagy, Assistant County Manager, responded that it is a misdemeanor in California for adults to provide tobacco products to minors under Penal Code 272. • Florence Ortiz expressed concern about the ban. She said there was no local statistics to support this policy and the real problem was vaping, therefore, we should focus on education and limiting peer-to-peer sales. • Roso Yoha, resident of Redwood City, said her 24-year-old son was a victim of flavored tobacco product and had tried to quit smoking unsuccessfully numerous time. She said her mother was also a long-time smoker and saw the harm of smoking on her. She emphasized the harmful effects of tobacco on health, such as cancer, and supported the ban. • Ms Babuslay responded that there were local statistics that support this policy. There are 6.6% of adults and 4% of youth that use tobacco in San Mateo County. The Sheriff’s Office conducted a sting survey in 2015 and found that 10% of retailers in Redwood City and Menlo Park sold tobacco to minors and 20% of retailers in unincorporated North Fair Oaks sold tobacco to minors.
